Introduction to the EEOC Public Portal

The EEOC Public Portal is a secure, web-based application developed for individuals to interact with the EEOC regarding complaints of employment or hiring discrimination against private business or non-profit organizations, unions, temp agency or staffing firms, state or local governments, or the Federal government. The EEOC Public Portal is the primary point of communication between you and the EEOC.

About the User's Guide

The EEOC Public Portal User's Guide ("User's Guide") provides comprehensive guidance for using the EEOC Public Portal's features and functions. The User's Guide is published as individual documents, each of which covers a feature or related features of the EEOC Public Portal.

The following EEOC Public Portal User's Guide documents are available (the highlighted Document Name is the one you're reading now):

- ❖ Vol 1 – Getting Started (learn about EEOC Public Portal access, structure, and other basic information)
- ❖ Vol 2 – Submit an Online Inquiry to the EEOC
- ❖ Vol 3 – Post-Inquiry Tasks (learn about scheduling an interview with the EEOC, entering additional information about an online inquiry, and signing a Charge of Discrimination)
- ❖ Vol 4 – Post-Charge Tasks (learn how to check the status of your charge, respond to an Invitation to Mediate, and request/respond to a Respondent's Position Statement)
- ❖ Vol 5 – Charge Closure (learn what happens during the conclusion of an investigation/conciliation/closure and about your right to sue)
- ❖ Vol 6 – Hearings with the EEOC
- ❖ Vol 7 – Appealing Federal Agency Decisions to the EEOC
- ❖ Vol 8 – Manage Case Information (learn how to display information about your case, enter/update your personal information, add representatives, and submit/receive documents associated with your case)

1 Submitting an Online Inquiry

The first step in the online process of filing a charge with the EEOC is to submit an inquiry. This will provide the EEOC with basic information to evaluate your complaint and to determine if the agency can help you.

- Tip! If you believe that a Federal Agency has discriminated against you, and wish to file a formal complaint, you must file it with the agency's EEO office.

To submit an inquiry online perform the following steps:

Step 1. On the Home Page, click on Filing with EEOC on the left-hand side to begin the process.

- Tip! Turn off Pop-Up blockers in your browser.
- Tip! Do not use the browser buttons to navigate the application. Use the Back and Next buttons.

Step 2. When asked to identify the Type of Employer you believe discriminated against you, select the employer from the available choices and click on the Next button.

EEOC enforces Federal civil rights laws that protect you from workplace discrimination and retaliation because of your race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, or genetic information. You may also have rights under other federal, state or local laws.

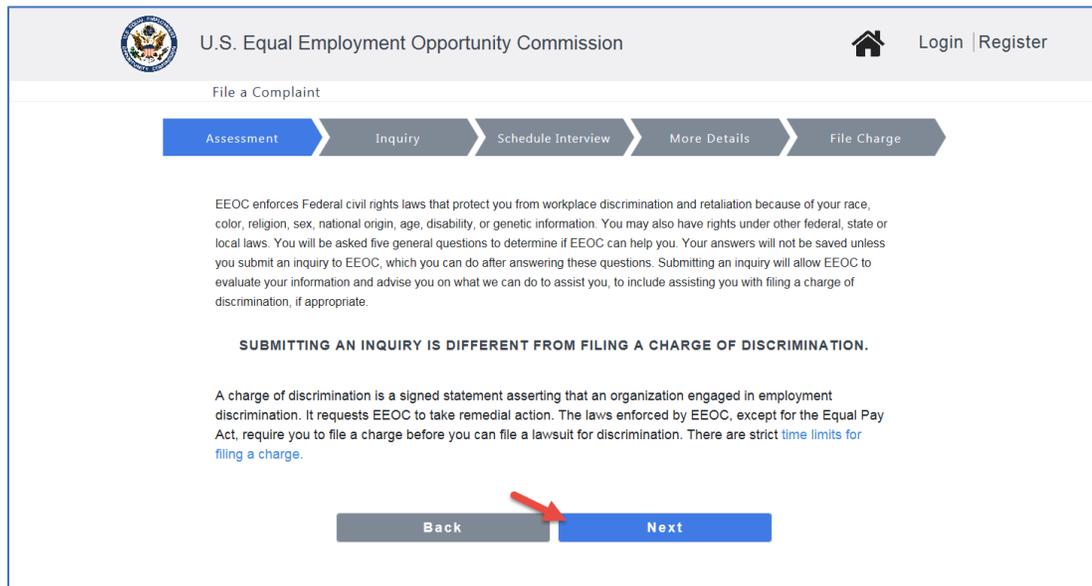

If you're claiming an employer has discriminated against you, EEOC may be able to help. We'll need to ask you a few basic questions to be sure. Your answers will not be saved unless you submit your complaint (against private sector employers), or hearing request or appeal to EEOC (for complaints against federal agency employers). Submitting to EEOC will allow us to evaluate your information and advise you on what we can do to assist you.

To get started, please tell us what type of employer you believe discriminated against you by choosing one of the following:

- Business or non-profit organization that I applied to, work for, or worked for
- State or Local Government that I applied to, work for, or worked for
- Union that represents me
- Temp agency or staffing firm that did not refer me to a job
- Federal Government agency that I applied to, work for, or worked for
- Other

Step 3. An informational page displays; when you are ready, click on Next to continue.

Step 4. A page displays with links to a video in English or Spanish that explains the basics of filing a charge with the EEOC. Click on the Play button (▶) to view the video to learn more before getting started. There are also links provided at the bottom of the page to help you learn more about the EEOC and its processes.

Click on the Next button when you are ready to start.

Step 5. You will now be asked four general questions about the nature of your complaint, to determine if the EEOC can help you. Your answers will be saved only if you submit an inquiry. Click on the Next button after answering each question.

The assessment may end early if it detects an answer indicating the EEOC may not be able to help you. In that event, you will see a reason why the assessment ended and a list of additional resources will be provided that you can contact.

Timeliness. Enter the date you believe the discrimination occurred¹.

Reason. Select the Reason why you believe you were discriminated against. Check all reasons that apply to your complaint.

¹ The date you provide helps EEOC determine how much time you have to file. In most states, you have 300 days from the date the discrimination took place to file a charge, but in some states you have only 180 days to file with the EEOC.

Step 7. The next page will let you know if you may continue the online inquiry process. Anti-discrimination laws give you a limited amount of time to file a charge of discrimination (typically 180 or 300 days from the date the discrimination occurred, depending on the law and state in which the discrimination occurred), and your answers help to determine if you have enough time left to file. If your time to file has not run out, you will be able to click on the Next button to continue.²

² If your time has run out, you may still file a charge with EEOC in person, although EEOC may not be able to assist you and will be required by law to notify your employer that the charge was filed.

Based on the responses you provided, your situation appears to be covered by the laws that EEOC enforces.

We recommend that you schedule an interview with an EEOC representative to discuss the details of your situation. In our experience, an interview helps individuals make more informed decisions about whether to file a charge.

If you would like to schedule an interview with an EEOC representative to discuss filing a charge, please click Next to submit an online inquiry and schedule an appointment. If you submit an online inquiry, your responses to the previous questions will be saved as part of that inquiry.

Submitting an inquiry is not the same as filing a charge of discrimination.

A charge of discrimination is a signed statement asserting that an organization engaged in employment discrimination. It requests EEOC to take remedial action. The laws enforced by EEOC, except for the Equal Pay Act, require you to file a charge before you can file a lawsuit for unlawful discrimination. There are strict time limits for filing a charge.

Step 8. To submit an online inquiry, you must set up a user account. A login page displays to enable you to login/register to submit an online inquiry. If you have not used the EEOC Public Portal before, click on the Register link (see EEOC Public Portal User's Guide Vol 1 – Getting Started for details on creating a user account).

- Tip! If you already registered with the EEOC, enter your user ID and password in the fields provided.

Step 9. Once you are logged in, you will see a status page that shows which parts of the inquiry process you have completed. Click on the Continue button to proceed to part 2 – Online Inquiry.

4 Supplemental Information

We have a few more questions to ask you that will help us understand your situation. Please answer each question. The information you enter is confidential and will not be sent to your employer at this time. Your responses create an "inquiry" in EEOC's system and you will receive an inquiry number after you click submit.

Then you will be asked to schedule an interview with an EEOC representative.

- Tip! Enter a zip code to automatically populate the city and state fields.
- Tip! If you select Yes to the question "Were you employed by this organization at an address that is different from the one you provided above?" the screen will change to provide fields to enter your work location.

Previous Filing Information. Indicate whether you have previously filed a complaint about this matter, either with the EEOC or another agency:

- Tip! If you select Yes to the question "Have you already filed a charge with the EEOC about this matter?" the screen will change to provide fields to enter the date you filed (required) and the charge number.
- Tip! If you select Yes to the question "Have you filed a complaint with another agency about this matter?" the screen will change to provide fields to enter the agency name, date you filed, and what the complaint was about (all three are required).

Demographics. Finally, you will be asked some general demographic questions (age, disability, ethnic background, gender, etc.). This information is important to the EEOC for research purposes that help them better serve the public. It is voluntary and the EEOC will not reveal your answers.

Step 12. Click on the Submit button to submit the inquiry. The EEOC will evaluate your information and advise you on what they can do to assist you.

Step 13. When the inquiry is successfully submitted, you will see a page confirming your submission with an inquiry number as shown below. (Note: the inquiry number displayed is for a fictional case.)

The screenshot displays the EEOC Public Portal interface. At the top, the EEOC logo and name are visible, along with a user greeting "Welcome, Joan" and a "Log Out" link. The main heading is "File a Complaint". Below this is a progress bar with five steps: "Assessment", "Inquiry", "Schedule Interview", "More Details", and "File Charge". The "Inquiry" and "Schedule Interview" steps are highlighted in blue, indicating they are completed. A message states: "You have completed two of four required parts needed to officially file a charge of discrimination." Below the progress bar are four numbered boxes representing the steps: 1. "File a Complaint" (completed, with a green checkmark), 2. "Online Inquiry" (completed, with a green checkmark), 3. "Schedule an Interview" (not completed), and 4. "Supplemental Information" (not completed). The "Inquiry Submitted" section confirms the submission and provides the inquiry number "440-2018-00199". The "Online Scheduling" section offers a dropdown menu to select an office for the interview. At the bottom, there are two buttons: "My Cases" and "Schedule an Interview".

Be sure to write the inquiry number down so you can refer to it later.

2 Additional Steps

After you submit your online inquiry, you must schedule an interview to discuss your inquiry with an EEOC representative. You should also provide additional information about your complaint prior to the interview (see EEOC Public Portal User's Guide Vol 3 – Post-Inquiry Tasks for details).
